Chapter 1

John was sitting in his living room thinking about all the wonderful things in his life; his beautiful wife (June 38), his equally beautiful daughter (Judy 18) and handsome son (Justin 17) he wondered how he could be so blessed to have them. He started thinking about all the things he had provided for his family and thought more about their possessions and decided they didn't matter as they were just things. Yes, they provided a certain amount of enjoyment, but they were still things and he knew the only thing that mattered to him was his family. He thought about what he could do to make the family happy without things. He knew how much they all like to camp, if you want to call it camping, in their motor home. They liked to go to rustic areas without hookups and people. He decided he was going to take the family on an adventure for the summer and started looking on the internet for a place to go.

Judy had just graduated out of High School and Justin was going to enter his senior year in the fall. June was a stay at home mom. John (39) was an IT expert who worked for himself and freelanced to companies all over the world. He knew he could take the entire summer off and it would not cause them any financial trouble as he had made millions so far and because of wise investing, even with the current troubles in the market, they had a monthly income automatically of about $50,000. They had $500,000 in the bank as spending money.

As John was planning their trip he got to thinking how much they enjoyed the nudist lifestyle at home and with others and decided their adventure was going to be a nudist one. They would take 1 or 2 changes of clothes with them for when they had to put them on but otherwise they would be nude from the time they went to bed the night before they were to leave to the time of their arrival back home, whenever that time was. They enjoyed it so much, and better than 3/4 of the families in their neighborhood were also nudists and it was not unusual to see 10-15 people in their yards or walking down the street nude. They had signs on either end of their block stating that they were a clothing optional neighbor.

John first brought the idea up to June and her only concern was being away for the entire summer, otherwise she thought it sounded like fun. They went to Judy and Justin and asked them and after thinking about it for a while they both said they would miss their friends and the comforts of home but they too liked the idea. They lived in a well off community in Western Washington and the area provided just about everything they wanted except warmer temperatures during the summer. 70's were common but everybody wanted 90's if they could find it.

And so the planning began. John asked them all where they would like to go and the main things everybody wanted, including himself were warm and water. He thought that was going to be fairly easy until he started looking at the warmer states and saw that the main water sources were clothing required until he found a small lake, of 200 acres, surrounded by a couple thousand acres for sale in South East Oregon, near Lakeview. He called the Real Estate agent handling the property and asked if it could be leased for three months to see if they would be interested in purchasing it and was told yes. He asked her about the average summer temperature and the amount of rainfall to expect. The agent told him the average daytime temp was usually around 90-100 degrees and rain was all but unheard of during the summer and if it did rain it was usually a quick 20 minute shower and then it was gone again. He asked her to send him the lease papers as to get started. She asked him if he didn't want to see the property first and he asked if the photos were real. She said yes and he told her that was all he needed to know as she had a good reputation and he didn't think she would want to put it on the line by trying to sell something that was not as she advertised. She thanked him for his trust and would fax the paperwork as soon as they were off the phone. John showed the family the information and photos of the lake and property and they all agreed he had made a good choice.

The next morning they jumped into the motor home and headed south for their adventure. They were, of course, nude and John knew they would have to stop at least once for fuel and started to tell them they would have to get dressed when they stopped until he remembered Oregon's nudity laws; you can be nude in public in Oregon as long as it isn't sexual, pretty much like their neighborhood at home. He knew some of the couples at home were sexually active with each other and had heard of a couple of families who got together as families for sex. His family had not been involved, in fact, he didn't think either kid had even had sex yet, except maybe by themselves masturbating. He wondered what it would be like to have sex Judy and for June to enjoy Justin. He put those thoughts out of his mind as they were wrong and he had never thought them before. June and the kids could not stop talking about how much fun their adventure was going to be, staying nude for the entire summer and not have a care in the world sounded like so much fun.

They had driven as far south as Grants Pass Oregon and had to finally stop for fuel. They pulled off the freeway and into the first gas station and John told the family they were free to get out but remember even though it is legal to be nude in public they might encounter some objections, stares, comments. Judy and Justin said they didn't care and jumped out to get some non-motor home fresh air. (Authors note: I guess I should describe the family. John 6'2", blond, athletic build as he works out in the gym regularly, June 5'6", blond, works out with John also athletic build, 36C breast, Judy 5'6" is a younger version of June except she has 36B breasts, and Justin 6', blond, and also athletic build. The entire family has had laser hair removal done from the neck down, including arms, arm pits and legs as well as pubic hair. John and June had had it done years before and when the kids were old enough they had theirs removed also.)

(Sorry, back to the story) As soon the kids stepped out of the motor home, action stopped at the gas station and everybody stared until the owner yelled out to give the kids a break. He said just because they were nude, they were not committing a crime and to leave them alone. John smiled and stepped out to thank the station owner, followed by June. By then several teens had come up and started asking Judy and Justin questions like; "why were they nude?", "aren't you cold?", "why don't you have any body hair?" and finally one boy looked at Justin and asked him if Judy was his girlfriend was he having sex with her. Justin just about punched him but Judy stopped him and told the boy Justin was her brother and just because they were nude didn't mean they were having sex. Nudism was the comfort of being without the restrictions of clothing and if he wanted to find out what it was like the best thing for him to do was to take off his clothes. The boy said he couldn't do that and Judy asked him why not and he told her, with embarrassment, that he had a hard on from seeing her and he didn't have Justin's type of body. She told the boy there was nothing to be embarrassed about his body and she had seen hard ons before, as they do happen, even with nudists. June, having heard everything, stepped in and told the kids it was time to go, she looked at the boy and told him he should try going nude sometime and see how good it feels. With that, she took Judy and Justin's hands and they walked back to the motor home. As soon as they got inside and back on the road, John started laughing and June asked him what was so funny. He told her the whole incident back at the station. How everybody stopped what they were doing when the kids stepped out, how the owner handled it so well and then the questions the local teens were asking. Finally he said about the teen boy that asked Justin if he was fucking Judy and how it was handled so well by Judy. He looked at June and told her they had a couple of great kids and he was proud of them. She said she thought they were pretty great also. She started thinking about sex with the kids and immediately tried to put it out of her mind, as the thought was so wrong. She couldn't help but think of how good looking the entire family was and how mature physically the kids were. Judy with her 36B's and nice looking pussy and Justin and his great pecs and his dick was at least 5 inches when soft and she wondered if it was about 7 inches when hard. Of course with everybody hair free it made them all that much sexier.

After a couple more hours of driving as well as up over the Cascade Mountains, they arrived at their destination. As they drove through the gate, they saw the most wonderful site of deer running across the field. Being city dwellers, they didn't see deer that often but knew they would see them everyday for the next several weeks. The lake was about a quarter mile in from the gate and surrounded by tall trees and lush grasses. They drove around the lake looking for the best spot to park and found one nestled in the trees that was flat and had enough room to pull in with no problems. They pulled in and as they got out they saw a fire ring and knew this was the same spot to current owners used when they came camping, it was perfect.

(End of Chapter 1, should I continue?)
